Still Having Doubts? Not Solely Convinced?

Try a One Month Stay Program

Are you struggling with the decision of not knowing how you will like your new lifestyle? If so, come try Grand Haven's One Month Stay Program.

We know how difficult it can be to decide if this is the right place to go. Many families struggle with the decision of moving a loved one into a retirement community because they are not sure how they will adapt. So, instead of dealing with the frustrations of deciding if it is the right place to send either yourself or a parent, try our One Month Stay Program. If you are not fully satisfied with the retirement community, then you are encouraged to seek another alternative; if you enjoy your one month stay, as we anticipate you will, your apartment will be awaiting you.

Grand Haven's One Month Stay Program was designed for those who are:

- ✚ Afraid of not liking the transition and losing independence
- ✚ Think this is where they want to be but are afraid they might be making a big mistake
- ✚ Children worried about sending their parents off without knowing the true nature of the facility
- ✚ Nervous people scared of the adaptation process for their loved ones

Our One Month Stay program is offered to both independent and assisted living patrons. All interested people must pass a nurse assessment.
